October 2005 Newsletter

Greetings!

This month's article describes how to use the cool photo management tool found in PlantMaster 6.5 and 6.7 versions. It makes adding your digital photos a cinch!

Adding Your Digital Pictures to PlantMaster

It's quick and easy to add your photos!

Send your plant pictures from your digital camera to your computer. Put them in a place where you can find them easily. I recommend you create a folder called Plant Pictures under the C: root directory.

It is extremely helpful that you re-name all your pictures to the appropriate name of the plant, the botanical name.

- Go to the opening screen of PlantMaster and click on View All Plants.
- Then click on Manage Photos.
- Click on Select Folder. Navigate through your hard drive until you find the folder that has your plant pictures. Select the folder name and then click on Select. This group of pictures' names (if they are jpgs) is now visible under Images to select from on the right side window.
- Check Synchronize Selections.
- Highlight the name of the plant you want to add to PlantMaster (scroll up and down the window, Images to select from. (on the right side of the screen).
- "Synchronize Selections" tool will automatically try to find the same plant name in the group of names on the left side of the window (PlantMaster database).

- Scroll up and down the window on the left side of the screen to find the plant name. Once you have found the plant name, highlight it and then click on Add.

If you want your added picture to be the first one shown (this is the picture shown in the Plant Briefs Report), click on it or select it. Then use the Scroll to move its position.
